The Chief of Police
John Manoll

2007 saw the Brockville Police Service celebrate its 175th Anniversary. A high light of this celebration was the unveiling of a statute at our front entrance which was designed by Thousand Islands Secondary School, student Jim Stinson.

Overall, the total number of crimes continues to decrease in Brockville and our crime clearance rate remains above the provincial and national averages. This is due in part to the many innovative programs we provide with the support of our various community partners.

As Chief of Police, I am truly proud of the men and women of the Brockville Police Service, who exemplify, on a daily basis, the professionalism needed to provide effective policing as they face ever increasing demands of our community and the various levels of government. Our strength is in our people as we move forward together ensuring that Brockville remains a safe and healthy community.

John Manoll
Police Chief

The Chair of the Police Services Board
King Yee, Jr.

The Brockville Police Service is a progressive, community oriented Police Service, which owes a great deal of success to the dedication of our officers and civilian employees, the cooperation of the citizens of our City, the support of City Council and staff as well as the guidance of the Brockville Police Services Board.

Members of the Brockville Police Service are very committed to working with the youth of the community, as well as creating and maintaining co-operative partnerships with community groups, to help keep Brockville a healthy and safe community. 2007 marked the 175th anniversary of the Brockville Police Service and it is our goal to continue delivering a high level of service to the community into the future.

King Yee Jr.
Chair, Brockville Police Services Board

Vision

A community, in partnership with our police service, to ensure Brockville is the safest and healthiest community in which to live, learn, work and play.

Mission Statement

The Brockville Police Service, while responding to the needs of our multi-racial and multi-cultural society, will maintain a standard of excellence in professional conduct and community service.

Attention to Youth

Interacting with our youth in the community has been a successful endeavour for the Brockville Police. Partnerships are alive and well, from Adopt-A-Cop programs in our high schools to our fundraising efforts for the Civitan Skatepark, we continue to support our young people.

We consider our youth an investment in the future. The Police Foundations Program at St. Lawrence College, has been a huge success. With partnerships in the VIPP (Volunteering in Policing Program) Program, we help create leadership opportunities for young adults within our police service.

Communications

Through our local media outlets, providing up to date information on crime trends and safety bulletins, to our world class website (www.brockvillepolice.com), the Brockville Police Service continues its effort at enhancing the effective and timely sharing of information.

Community Partnerships

Our partnerships with our community continue to grow to make Brockville the safest place to live, learn, work and play. These partnerships include working with seniors to deliver a symposium on safety, to young people dealing with internet safety.

Each and every week, members of our Police Service are out in the Community making presentations. Police on a daily basis are connecting and making visible partnerships with the schools, our hospitals, and to our many community organizations.

Visibility and Presence

From Cops and Rockers outreach to our youth, to opening the doors of our police service to our community, we are involved in our "Home Town". A downtown display of vehicles and personnel has changed the face of our community presence and interaction with the public.

In the summer, our bike patrol is visible in parks, and the King Street corridor, interacting with the public to provide a safe environment for the citizens of Brockville.
